CAL-IDA BRINGS LOGS DOWN THE CALLOWAY RD.

Cal-Ida Lumber company resumed operating the Brandy City mill, 14 miles west of Downieville, after being closed since the winter.

Cal-Ida contracted to cut from a section of privately owned timber between Downieville and Alleghany. A crew of men started falling trees about three weeks ago.

The old Calloway road, built in 1851-52 and used extensively in the last century for freight and travel, was repaired for use as a logging road. The road enters Downieville past the Oro mine and the Sierra county courthouse. It is steep and crooked.

Driver Leo Rocks, wheeling a load of logs on a truck and trailler, arrived in Downieville Monday, 6:15 p.m., with brakes hot and smoking. With widespread conjecture whether the driver could maneuver his load of 32-feet logs past the sharp courthouse corner, the entire population of Downieville was out to help the trucker squeeze by, even if it required shoe horns. The trucker knew his stuff through and wheeled his juggernaut by and on down 49 to the mill near Brandy City.

Cal-Ida's management said it plans to use a crew in the woods until weather is too inclement for hauling; then add employes and operate the mill on a year-around basis.

Cal-Ida built the Brandy City mill about six years ago to cut on U. S. national forest land under forest service policy of sustained yield.

Cal-Ida this spring felt the demands of the forest service in stumpage rates, selection of trees for cutting, and use of low-grade timber, were unreasonable and did not reopen the mill at usual resumption time.

BURGLARS HAVE FREEDOM LESS THAN 24 HOURS

Fast detective and police work on the part of Nevada county sheriff's office personnel and Santa Cruz county officers resulted in capture of four youthful burglars less than 24 hours after they had broken into and robbed Carbona's store in Truckee at 1 a.m., Monday.

Robert Ruddell, 19, Bakersfield; King Montgomery, 18, Aptos; Allan Kendall, 35, New York; and Gerald Gospodnetich, 21, Watsonville, are lodged in Nevada county jail following their return from Watsonville by Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins and Deputy Sheriff Dewey Watters. The four men were arraigned in justice court at Truckee Wednesday on a grand burglary charge, and will have their preliminary next week, Hoskins said.

Hoskins stated the men had burglarized the Truckee store of an estimated $500 to $1,000 worth of merchandise and clothing and two guns, a .38 calibre military and police pistol and a .32 automatic. Thirty dollars in cash was also taken from the till of the store.

The men were captured in Watsonville near midnight Monday following deduction that the men were headed there.

DONNER VOTERS OKEY GATEWAY HOSPITAL

Residents of Truckee-Donner area voted overwhelmingly in favor of $150,000 bond issue to construct a modern hospital in Gateway park near Truckee.

In a heavy vote for a single issue, the bond issue won out 412 to 70.

The final unofficial tabulation revealed the following results: Truckee 243 to 22; King Beach 52 to 21; Tahoe City 67 to 21; Donner Summit 50 to 5.

Most residents of the mountain area were pleased at the outcome of the election which virtually assures the construction of the sorely-needed hospital in the near future.

The proposed 12-bed hospital will be located at Gateway park near Truckee on property donated by Richard Joseph in memory of his son, Lt. Lavon Joseph, killed in the Pacific.

Applications for federal and state funds totaling $264,000 have been filed with the appropriate agencies and are awaiting final approval.

STATE WELFARE OFFICE OPEN IN BUILDING DIN

Nevada county office of the state welfare office administering old age security and blind assistance programs opened yesterday midst din of hammering and final phases of construction work at the Pine and Commercial location recently vacated by Foreman and Judd.

Kief D. Melberg, supervisor of the new office, yesterday afternoon turned over the keys and records of the county welfare assistance office to Miss Ernestine Eilerman, Nevada City, who was appointed director of the office the same morning by the Nevada county board of supervisors.

The state office will handle only old age security and blind assistance programs under the administration of State Welfare Director Mrs. Myrtle Williams, set up by passage last fall of proposition No. 4 in the November elections.

All but one of Melberg's staff from the county office transferred with him to the state welfare office.

His assistants in the new program are Mrs. Elfrieda Higer, Mrs. Madge Slaughtner, and Richard Christie, social workers, all from Nevada City; Mrs. June Kelly, Mrs. Leslie Osserman, Nevada City, Mrs. Florence Kelly and Mrs. Virginia Levey, Grass Valley, clerks.

Melberg said his table of organization calls for two more personnel.

Asked what his opinion of probable happening should proposition four be repealed by proposition two in the forthcoming special election, Melberg, said he and his crew would probably move back into the county offices, but that he didn't know.

Miss Eilerman announced Miss Lois Beverage, Nevada City, will be her clerk, with a case worker to be appointed by the board of supervisors.

MRS. DORIS FOLEY NEW COUNTY RURAL SCHOOL SUPERVISOR

Mrs. Doris Foley, local elementary school teacher and officer of the Nevada County Historical society, was appointed county rural school supervisor to succeed David Dalke, by Superintendent Walter A. Carlson.

As supervisor, Mrs. Foley will conduct art, music, and audio-visual aids phases of elementary education program.

Dalke, who served as supervisor during the 1948-49 school year, will be principal at the Union Hill elementary school, according to Carlson.

SWEETLAND NATIVE SUCCUMBS IN IDAHO

Word was received in Nevada City this week of the death on Aug. 19 of Mrs. Ada Perry Landsburg, 90, in Kuna, Idaho. Last rites were held in Kuna Methodist church with interment in Kuna cemetery.

Mrs. Landsburg was born Jan. 30, 1859, in Sweetland where she was married Aug. 10, 1881, to Jasper Landsburg. She taught schools in this area for many years. Surviving are one daughter, Linda Landsburg Fiss, Kuna; and a foster-daughter, Verna Hiscox Hale.

In 1910 she and her husband moved to Kuna, where Mr. Landsburg passed away in 1919. She was an honorary member of the Order of the Eastern Star in Kuna, after more than fifty years of active membership.

She fell and broke both legs 16 years ago and was confined to a wheel chair. Five years ago she fell from the chair and fractured a hip bone. Despite her years her mind was keen. Only recently she wrote a history of her native Sweetland.

Absolute Dictator!

Stalin Bosses 13 Members of The Politburo

Copyright 1949, by The Nugget

By JAMES C. CROCKETT, Col., U. S. A., Ret.

The Soviet Politburo, with Stalin as its chairman—and boss, governs every phase of Russian life. The 13 members of the buro are all appointees of Stalin and are his abject yes men.

They form the most powerful, the most nervous and the most sinister ruling group in the world.

The constitution of the Soviet Union which sets up and defines the legal machinery of the government does not even mention the Politburo. It therefore has no legal authority; nevertheless the Politburo as the top agency of the Communist party is a super government which rules all Russia without the guidance of public opinion.

Col. James C. Crockett

Some people in the United States claim that Stalin is not the boss of the Politburo and say that he is ruled by the other members. I never saw any signs of this during my stay in Russia. The deferential attitude of the other members when they are in the presence of Stalin show clearly that he is the ruler.

Stalin is the only member who has survived since the organization of the Politburo.

Often from the reviewing stand at the foot of Lenin's tomb in Red Square (Moscow), I have watched Stalin and the other members of the Politburo as they reviewed massed columns of soldiers, political organizations and factory workers.

On these occasions the MVD security troops and secret police cleared the Square, and the streets which lead into it, of all people. Lines of armed guards standing side by side walled off the large cleared area. Other guards wtih rifles and machine guns were posted on the roofs of all adjacent houses. The windows of these houses were closed and people were not allowed on the balconies. Double lines of guards were established as an inner circle within the cleared and guarded area. Finally a line of armed guards was thrown around the reviewing stand and Lenin's tomb. When all guards were posted, visitors checked and accounted for, the Politburo led by Stalin came through a door in the Kremlin wall behind Lenin's tomb, mounted the stairs to the reviewing place, and the parade of soldiers and citizens began.

After the soldiers passed in review, the citizens marched by. Special MVD guards marched with the columns to prevent them from stopping or slowing up in front of their masters.

The offices and apartments of the Politburo members are within the Kremlin walls, but they also have great country estates.

So far as I know Stalin has only three houses, one is near Gagry on the Black Sea, coast of Georgia, where he often spends his vacations.

Another is in the Kremlin, which is his official residence. The third is about 20 miles outside of Moscow. This is known as Stalin's "dacha" (country house).

This dacha is a large brick building with several adjacent smaller buildings, all in a park filled with trees and surrounded by a high brick wall. There are six entrances to Stalin's "dacha", each guarded by uniformed MVD police officers with rifles. No one at the "dacha" knows which gate Stalin will use, a precautionary measure against treachery.

Several times I have seen Stalin going from or to his dacha. A car driven by a uniformed MVD officer and carrying one or more MVD guards with machine gun and radio always precedes Stalin's car. Then comes Stalin's large, bullet-proof car, often with curtains drawn down over the windows. A third car similar to the leading car follows. All the automobiles travel rapidly.

The elaborate precautions taken to protect Stalin and the members of the Politburo from their own fellow citizens, show that these despots know they govern without the consent of the people and give some idea of the fear and terror under which these Communist bosses live.

As a military attache in ussia, I studied the Politburo and its members for four years. My opinion based on that study is that the members fear and distrust each other. They are ambitious and jealous like other men, but they also live in terror of being unfavorably reported to Stalin by the MGB (secret political police).

It is this fear which prevents disagreements and the formation of opposing groups in the Politburo.

Stalin is the final authority on the interpretation of the Communist party line. Officials who deviate from this line are reported to him by the secret police. Deviation is the most serious offense that a Communist can commit. The career and the very life of the officials and their families are endangered by a police report. An unfavorable report usually causes the liquidation of the man reported upon.

When an official is reported his associates are afraid to defend him lest they, too, be accused of deviation from the party line. They therefore turn against the accused who has laid himself open to criticism.

In order to keep in line with the Communist party line, no matter what secret views the Politburo member may have, he is, so far as speech and actions are concerned, the unplacable foe of the capitalist nations. It is this attitude and the fear of being called a deviationist from the Communist party line which makes it impossible for any member of the Politburo to show himself friendly towards the United States.

In next week's Nugget I will try to answer the question— Who will succeed Stalin?

NEVADA CITY FLOOD OF 1852 ON RADIO TONIGHT OVER KDAN

Tonight at 7 o'clock over radio station KDAN, Oroville, 1340 kilocycles, "The Old Story Teller," will feature a story of the roaring flood of 1852 that washed away the Jenny Lind theater. The program will also have a word or two about the old National hotel.

Advance publicity on the program indicates the story may be slightly inaccurate, as it calls the showhouse the Prof. Robbins' theater and saloon.

According to "Gold Rush Days in Nevada City," by H. P. Davis, "the career of the Jenny Lind theater was abruptly and dramatically ended . . . A most severe storm . . . caused a great flood damage . . . For several days Deer creek rose alarmingly. On the evening of March 5, 1852, a heavy drift log carried down the swollen stream, struck and demolished some of the supporting timbers of the theater.

"At this very moment a hearing to determine the priority of several liens on the Jenny Lind was in progress at the shake court house on Broad street. Informed of the threatened destruction of the building under discussion the court adjourned and the judge, appellants, defendants and witnesses rushed out to view the effect of the cataclysm."

Davis quotes an attorney of one of the creditors as saying, "There is a lien which will take precedence over all of us."

Davis continues "The following morning the Main street bridge went out, and at noon a large crowd, assembled in anticipation of a major calamity, saw a great accumulation of debris carry away the Broad street bridge and with it the theater and several adjacent buildings."

Mobile X-ray Unit To Be Here in September

Nevada City district will be served Sept. 19-22 by the mobile X-ray unit of the tuberculosis and health association, according to an announcement by the Nevada county branch of the organization.

This annual service is financed by sale of Christmas seals and is available to all adults and children over 15 years of age.

NEVADA CITY SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 12

The Nevada City elementary and high schools will open the 1949-50 school year Monday, Sept. 12, it was announced following a special meeting of the trustees of the Nevada City unified school district Monday evening at the elementary school.

Registration at the high school for freshmen and transfer students will take place Thursday, Sept. 8, High School Principal E. A. Frantz announced.

Registration of new students at the elementary school, according to Principal Lloyd Geist, has been scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 7-8.

The board of trustees set Sept. 7 to consider bids for the new 60-passenger school bus for the district.

The board voted to publish specifications and call for bidders to construct a section of wall enclosing portions of the elementary school playground. They will also call for bids on surfacing of the playgrounds that have brought dust and mud problems in recent years.

The board will call for estimates on installation of showers.

The board approved Nevada City high school's participation in a conference football festival.

Two teachers will fill vacancies on the staff of Nevada City elementary school, according to Principal Lloyd Geist.

Mrs. Vivian Billick and Douglas Conway, both experienced elementary school teachers, have been assigned to the sixth and seventh grades.

The remainder of the 20-teacher staff will remain the same as last year, with the following instructors scheduled to greet the youngsters Monday morning, Sept. 12: Frances Mason, kindergarten; Mrs. Irma Atkins and Mrs. Jean Smollet, first grades; Mrs. Willena Wolfe, and Mrs. Elizabeth Ryan, second grades; Mrs. Mary Warnecke, and Mrs. Jean Haley, third graders; Mrs. Elise DeMattei, and Miss Savory Ford, fourth grades.

The last four teachers fill similar positions on the high school teaching staff.

Geist reported the school cafeteria is under the direction of Mrs. Maria Maison, head cook, assisted by Mrs. Laverna Laugh- and Mrs. Margaret Davis.

NUGGET TO REVERT TO WEEKLY PUBLICATION

Starting with next week The Nugget will publish once a week on Fridays.

The Nugget tried twice weekly publication the past four months and it has proven economically unfeasible—lack of advertising support makes continuance of the edition of the early part of the week unprofitable.

The Nugget subscribers will continue to get all the news of Nevada City jam-packed into one issue per week. The Nugget will continue its many interesting features and articles and will also continue with its aggressive constructive editorial policy.

The Nugget has received many compliments on its many improvements, but compliments and praise do not pay the paper and ink supply houses and the tax collectors.

LABOR DAY

The big question on this Labor Day is whether a series of disastrous strikes over the four-round wages demands can be averted.

Some of these strikes are already in progress, but the greatest concern centers around such key industries as steel, coal and automobile production A prolonged tieup in any one of these would have almost the same effect as if all three were struck, and that effect would be to put a severe crimp in the Nation's general welfare.

Industrial statesmanship—or the lack of it—on the part of both labor leaders and business chiefs will largely determine whether the wheels of production are kept turning or whether they come to half. Labor has made great gains in wages and working conditions over the years, but attempts to force through further advantages at public expense will probably fall short of their objectives.

Perhaps the greatest need of labor on this, its annual holiday, is to re-examine the quality of its leadership, and to weed out those union bosses who seek primarily to promote their own prestige and power.

There are enough sincere and able men within the ranks of labor to make it unnecessary to rely upon some of the key men who now guide—or misguide—the labor destinies.

These and other specific questions dealing with opportunities and pitfalls existing in the field of small manufacturing and retailing enterprise will get thoroughgoing analysis in Sacramento next week.

Sponsored jointly by Governor Warren, the state department of business education and the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, the panel will convene daily at 10 a.m. at the governor's building on the fair grounds. DOG POUND WILL BE DISCONTINUED; DOGS TO BE TURNED LOOSE

Council of Nevada City at a special meeting last night decided to close the dog pound and turn loose the three dogs now impounded. The action was taken on motion of Councilman Thomas F. Taylor and seconded by Councilman H. F. Sofge.

Mayor Arthur B. Innis urged the city fathers leave the dog problem in the hands of dog lovers of the city.

Edgar Dulaney, poundmaster, was relieved as of Wednesday.

D. E. Knowlton, state forest ranger, urged action by the city council to minimize fire hazard at the city dump.

The council instructed Herbert Hallett, superintendent of streets, to place a water meter on the intake pipe of the cooling system of the county courthouse.

I. C. Bell brought to attention of council that Robert L. Webb, supervising airport engineer, California aeronautics commission, speaking Thursday noon to Nevada City Rotary club, pointed out Nevada county has available $3,000 from state funds for airport development. The fund calls for matching money from counties.

J. F. Siegfried was authorized to proceed with a contour survey of the site of the sewage disposal plant.

City Clerk George Calanan read a letter to the council from ex-President Herbert Hoover, a former Nevada City resident, received by Mayor Innis.

The letter:

My Dear Mr. Mayor:

I have received the most kind wishes on my birthday which you and Mr. Calanan have so generously extended me on behalf of the City Council. I want you to know of my deep appreciation for the friendship of which they are such evidence.

Yours faithfully,

Gray-haired, ruddy-faced Andy got sick of war frauds he saw on jobs . . . turned into a one-man FBI and started collecting evidence. Spent ten days on Capitol Hill at his own expense being brushed off by biggies as a nut. Admits being a nut, but asks what about his suitcase full of documents and signed statements?

Andy was born at Stockton, where his dad was chief of police for nineteen years. Both parents were '49ers . . . Mother, Amelia Montana Tam born in a covered wagon atop the Rockies. Father, Benjamin Franklin Rogers also came by covered wagon to build first hotel at Lake Tahoe. Andy almost didn't get here, as his father-to-be was nearly caught in the disastrous explotion of the Yellow Jacket Mine on Cripple Creek.

Took time out from his building and contracting in 1946 to run for Congress, Second District, and though he didn't make it that time, believes he's interested many people in his one-man crusade for honest government.

Talked right back when postal authorities, re-establishing office at war's end, wanted to abbreviate his town's name. "It was named Rough and Ready after old Zach Taylor," he declared, "and we want Rough asd Ready, or nothing." Authorities backed down, hastily agreed to Andy's terms. Mount St. Mary's Will Start Class Tuesday

Improvements to the play ground were completed during the summer.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder about trivial things—
The letters we should write,
But put off writing day by day
And never so indite;
I Wonder about silly fads
And some not quite so silly
And how we just adopt the things
Sometimes quite willy-nilly.

I have been told that there is a growing interest in the revival of folk dancing and that people of all ages are taking lessons and enjoying the change from the rather crude dances that have been in vogue a bit too long.

I Wonder just what effect this revival of older forms of dancing will have upon the art of dancing in general and the jitter buggery in particular. Dancing is supposed to be one of the fine arts; it was once thought that it produced gracefulness of movement and graciousness of manners. Alas, it strayed far from its original course and now there is perhaps a revolt in the making which will lead to something akin to the more desirable forms and return dancing to its place among the arts. Let's hope.

With a return of dancing to its more graceful forms, there may come a change in modes of dress. One can scarcely conceive of our Colonial ancestors dancing the minuet, while clad in slacks and I'm sure that when, if ever, we moderns begin to study dancing in earnest and return it to its olden forms and graces, dress reform will inevitably follow.

Letter writing was also one of the arts of eld; men and women were taught the art of expressing themselves in writing and the letters of many a celebrated personage proves conclusively that letter writing might form one of our most pleasant and productive forms of occupation.

Many are the letters we should, but do not write; in offering excuses for our neglect we write a short note, saying, "I've been so busy that I just couldn't find time to write to you. "Now isn't that nice and courteous? If you have no time to write to a friend, how can you possibly find time to read letters from those whose friendship you prize? No time to write to your friend? If that is your excuse, it is certainly a trivial one.

Come back Terpsichore, teach us once again to be graceful and gracious Teach us how to choose becoming and appropriate clothing, for the dance, the home the opera and above all construct for a suit able street garment. We do need some reforms; lets have them now and return to a modicum of reserve and decorum. That wouldn't be old fashioned, it would be most beautifully and desirable new fashioned.

The nicities of life may be practiced without any perceptible loss in the happiness and fun of life. By all means let's have fun, we can, you know while clothed and in our right minds.

Some of our defections are of course, trivial, others which tend to make us blots upon any landscape could be very properly exchanged for more conservative and alluring modes. Don't you agree?

BLAKE URGES CAUTION ON HIGHWAYS ON LABOR DAY WEEKEND TRAFFIC

All existing highway traffic records are expected to be broken over the coming three-day Labor Day holiday, it was announced by Captain A. E. Blake, chief of Nevada county office of the California highway patrol as orders went forth for every available man to be on duty.

"This will be the last vacation period for many families before school opens," said Blake, "and we know the highways will be crowded. Our advice to everyone is to use the utmost care in driving and walking."

Blake emphasized the following safety tips:

Be certain all items carried on the sides or top of car are securely fastened. This may prevent a serious accident.

Don't take chances with poor brakes. Have them checked and if they need repairs, see that they are made.

If you use a trailer, be certain it is properly equipped, that your hitch is safe and then remember to stay within the allowed 45 mile speed limit.

"Man" is the subject of the Christian Science lesson-sermon for Sunday, Sept. 4, with the Golden Text taken from Job: "There is a spirit in man: and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding" (32:8).

The following citations are among those comprising the sermon:

The Bible: "When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory" (Colossians 3:4).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In Colossians (iii. 4) Paul writes: 'When Christ, who is our life, shall appear (be manifested), then shall ye also appear (be manifested) with him in glory.' When spiritual being is understood in all its perfection, continuity, and might, then shall man be found in God's image. The absolute meaning of the apostolic words is this: Then shall man be found, in His likeness, perfect as the Father, indestructible in Life, 'hid with Christ in God,'— with Truth in divine Love, where human sense hath not seen man" (p. 325).

A Good Roof
Good Investment

Maybe you don't fully appreciate the importance of a good roof. Maybe you think your room is "good enough" if it keeps water out of the living room. And maybe it is!

On the other hand, your roof does more than protect you from the rain. It lets out warm air and lets in cold air in the winter . . . if it isn't in proper shape. In summer, it lets the sun's rays increase your discomfort.

Why not have us check your roof and see if it needs repair or replacement? You may be sure of an honest appraisal, both as to need and cost.

We have an ample stock of shingles to take care of your roofing needs. Ask us about your roofing problems.

ST. BERNARD CAPTURES SWEEPSTAKES AT PET SHOW OF COUNTY FAIR

The pet show at the county fair last Sunday proved a big attraction. The children who walked off with top honors were John Walter Phillips, grand sweepstakes winner, who also won several other classes. He was leading a Saint Bernard dog named "Colonel".

Second place in sweepstakes was won by Joan Flury, nine years old, leading a Great Pyrenee dog named "Juan".

Third place in the sweepstakes was a tie by Richard Page, age eight and leading a large pointer named "Butch", and Judith Hile, leading a springer spaniel named "Mark".

None of the prizes was easily, and the children really had to work for the awards. The judges had a difficult time choosing the winners and went over every entry with care. All wins were based on actual measurements and evaluation of every class. There were many lovely prizes and gold cups were presented to the class winners. The out of town judges remarked on the excellent sportsmanship of Nevada county children, the losers never gave up, but went right on trying. The children all had wonderful control over their pets (who had been scrubbed and polished within an inch of their lives) and the dogs looked great.

An added attraction was one of the largest dogs in the world present at the fair. He was the Calo dog: "Calo Ciskolda". This dog's height is 31 inches at the shoulder, he is used as a herder in Holland, also a cart dog, being of such size that he can easily haul large loads. He is a fearless watchdog, and an excellent guardian. The Calo Dog Food company sent their representative, Don McNeilly, to show this outstanding dog to the children.

Another out-of-towner who came from Richmond was Dr. E. N. Gregg, who brought with him a small and handsome Shetland Sheepdog officially named Hytone o' The Picts, better known as "Tommy" to the crowd. Tommy retrieved, leaped over hurdles, even two placed closely together, found lost articles and went through obedience maneuvers with a speed and joy that "brought down the house". The crowd loved him from the start, and Tommy didn't let them down or make one mistake.

The purebred parade was outstanding due to the cooperation of many local owners and kennels. Many champions were there, many near-champions, and many just good looking pets, all groomed, all ably handled by their owners in the ring.

The Nevada County Dog Fanciers' association wishes to thank one and all for making the first show in Grass Valley a huge success. The children are especially thanked for their entries and their good sportsmanship. The personnel of the fair board office are thanked for their kindness and cooperation.

CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE RECEIVES MATCH FUNDS

With the payment of $1500 by the state department of finance to the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce centennial committee as its share of matching funds authorized by the California centennials commission for the recent celebration, the responsibility of the Nevada county committee for this event ceases.

Elmer Stevens, county chairman in releasing the committee, states that Joseph Knowland, state chairman and other members of the governor's committee were highly complimentary concerning the July celebration and spoke of the twin-cities in terms of praise of the nature and conduct of the event, and appreciation of the committee for its part in representing the state.

Nevada county's committee consisted of: Elmer Stevens, chairman; Guerdon Ellis, vice-chairman; Mary Johns, secretary; George Hallock, Downey Clinch. Wes. Donnenwirth, George Hansen, Al Irby, Herb Nile, Earl Covey, G. T. Tennis, Vada Meeker, Ruth Roark, Bill Lynch and Forrest Varney.

The state historical caravan is scheduled to visit Nevada county this fall under auspices of the state centennial commission.

Grass Valley Girl Wins Collie Puppy at Fair

The announcement was made at the pet show and the Collie complete with collar and leash was presented to the girl there.

IRON LUNG RECEIVED AT COUNTY HOSPITAL

Nevada county's iron lung, bought by public subscription by the people of the county and for use by all physicians, is at the county hospital.

The iron lung, one of the J. H. Emerson models, was shipped from Cambridge, Mass. A similar model, which was in San Francisco could not be sent here because of need for the unit in Eureka.

The iron lung has a capacity of two small infants or one adult person and is available for a variety of illnesses other than poliomyelitis.

The respirator is identical with the model displayed at the Nevada county district fair last weekend by the local chapter of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL REGISTRATION NEXT TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY

Registration for all students of Nevada City elementary school will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, according to an announcement by Lloyd Geist, principal. Hours for both days are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Geist reminded parents birth certificates are required for all kindergarten and first grade pupils. He added kindergarten children who were registered at summer round-up need not register next week, but the parents of those children have been asked to drop a card to the principal giving that information and including the home address in the event it becomes necessary to contact parents.

Registration on Tuesday and Wednesday is for all students—old and new, Geist pointed out. Pupil protection applications must be signed by a parent, the school principal reported.

It was also announced the cafeteria will be in operation and lunches will be served on the first day of school.

Geist pointed out that assignment of pupils to classes this year will be made by the registrar. This is a change from the usual procedure. He said guides and instruction will be prepared before the starting day to help in orienting the new pupils in finding their way to classes.
